INTRODUCTION.

WITH a few variations as to arrangement, my work is a continuation of Dr. Collins' "Feet of Fines for the Tudor Period" already published by the Society. To his editorial introduction to the first volume of that series I would draw the attention of members, and, as he did, ask for leniency as regards errors.

The series of Feet of Fines for the period covered by this volume is almost complete, but where they are missing, illegible or defective, recourse has been had to the Notes of Fines, the Concords of Fines, and the King's Silver Books. The consecutive order of the Fines in the Official Index at the Public Record Office appears to be that of the bundles of Notes as originally strung together, and differs entirely from that of the bundles of Feet. Except where the Feet are missing, I have followed the order in which they are arranged.
